

This is a template page with some text. The template can be any PDF page, where some parts are blank. For example, there can be lines to write something on.

---

Date, Place

---

Who

Note, that the Date is the current date, which we insert using some special <tag>s, e.g. the date is <date>. Furthermore, we may use checkboxes to express, that I like

- ☐ Vegetables
- ☐ Meat, hot and spicy
- ☐ You

Because we use paragraphs, we can render nicely large text in a textarea. In addition, we can use markup as available in reportlab paragraphs.

We can choose different default styles, for example one to display code.

Often, scanned forms which are generated with Word are horrible. They also force you to underline oder cross out parts. We also support that, which allows you to comply to legal crap such as

I hereby do / do not understand what I sign

Underline what applies

I hereby do / do not understand what I sign

Cross out what not applies

I own 1, 2, many pens

Cirlce what applies